

EchoThief License

Permitted Use

Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, the San Diego State University Research Foundation ("SDSURF") permits the use of the EchoThief Response Library and associated materials ("EchoThief") solely for the purpose of creating original musical compositions and other creative works of individuals.

Restrictions

EchoThief shall not be used, in whole or in part, for any video production purposes intended for wide distribution, including but not limited to synchronization with motion picture, television, streaming video, gaming, advertising, or other audiovisual works, without first obtaining a separate commercial license from SDSURF. This restriction also applies to any training of artificial intelligence models and/or algorithms or embedding of EchoThief in software, applications, or other products intended for distribution, sale, or other commercial exploitation.

Commercial License Requirement

Any person or entity intending to use EchoThief for purposes described under "Restrictions" must contact SDSURF to negotiate and obtain an appropriate commercial license prior to such use. To obtain such a license, please contact innovation@sdsu.edu.